

SLAVE WOMAN

You are an escaped slave. A bounty hunter is trying to find you.

Roll the dice with the bounty hunter; if you get the same number, he will catch you and drag you back to the plantation, where you will be punished. If this happens twice, the second time you will be executed. If you roll different numbers, pick up the next card and continue.

You have two goals:

1. Find out what happened to your four children who were sold from you about 10 years ago. You need to find them before the bounty hunter does.
2. Take notes for an autobiography you want to write to expose the injustice and cruelty of the slave system. Start by describing your life as a house slave (spartacus-educational.com/USASdomestic.htm). Note it on the paper.

Note: Be aware that the bounty hunter might read what you write: it's important to tell the truth, but you might want to change some details to throw him off. Also, you do not have time to write very much, maximum 100 words per note.

You think one of your daughters may have died as a field slave.

Ask Mary Prince (spartacus-educational.com/SprinceM.htm) OR Henry Box Brown (spartacus-educational.com/USASbox.htm) how slaves usually die on plantations. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you are not captured, you may continue to search for your other three children.

You've heard of the Underground Railroad. You aren't quite sure what it is, but you have information that one of your sons may have escaped north that way.

Ask Harriet Tubman (spartacus-educational.com/USASStubman.htm) OR Sojourner Truth (spartacus-educational.com/USAStruth.htm) how slaves escaped on the Underground Railroad. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you are not captured you may continue to search for your other two children.

Some slaves rebelled. You think one of your sons may have participated in one of the rebellions.

Ask Nat Turner (spartacus-educational.com/USASTurner.htm) or Frederick Douglass (spartacus-educational.com/USASdouglass.htm) what happened to most slaves involved in rebellions. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you are not captured you may continue to search for your last child.

You know that your youngest daughter has found sympathetic white friends.

Ask Angelina Grimke (spartacus-educational.com/USASgrimke.htm) OR Harriet Beecher Stowe (spartacus-educational.com/USASstowe.htm) if the suffragettes would have helped her. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you are not captured you may continue and check your answers.

THE ANSWERS: Slave Woman

Your first daughter probably died from a whipping.

The second child, your son, probably escaped along with hundreds of others along the Underground Railway to the North and to freedom.

Your third son was probably executed after participating in a rebellion.

Your youngest daughter is probably alive and working for pay in the household of one of the suffragettes.

You have lost two children, but your two living children are safe and cannot be captured by the bounty hunter.

Roll the dice one last time. If you escape, you may go free.

BOUNTY HUNTER

You are a bounty hunter. You are chasing an escaped slave.

Roll the dice with the slave. If you get the same number, you can catch her and drag her back to the plantation where she will be punished. If this happens twice, the second time she will be executed. If you roll different numbers, pick up the next card and continue.

You have two goals:

1. Capture the slave; but ideally, you also want to capture her children whom you know were sold at auction about 10 years ago. You need to find them before the slave does.
2. Keep notes of what you find out for the investors who are supporting you.

Start by explaining the laws that allow you to catch runaway slaves (spartacus-educational.com/USASfugitive.htm). Note it on the paper.

Note: Be aware that the slave might read what you write: it's important to tell the truth, but you might want to change some details to throw her off. Also, you do not have time to write very much, maximum 100 words per note.

You think one of her daughters may have died as a field slave.

Ask Moses Grandy (spartacus-educational.com/USASgrandy.htm) OR Elizabeth Keckley (spartacus-educational.com/USASkeckley.htm) how slaves usually die on plantations. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you do not capture the slave, you may continue to search for her other three children.

You've heard of the Underground Railroad. You aren't quite sure what it is, but you have information that one of the slave's sons may have escaped north that way.

Ask Harriet Tubman (spartacus-educational.com/USASStubman.htm) OR Sojourner Truth (spartacus-educational.com/USASStruth.htm) how slaves escaped on the Underground Railroad. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you do not capture the slave, you may continue to search for her other two children.

Some slaves rebelled. You think one of her sons may have participated in one of the rebellions.

Ask Nat Turner (spartacus-educational.com/USASTurner.htm) or Frederick Douglass (spartacus-educational.com/USASdouglass.htm) what happened to most slaves involved in rebellions. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you do not capture the slave, you may continue to search for her last child.

You know that her youngest daughter has found sympathetic white friends.

Ask Angelina Grimke (spartacus-educational.com/USASgrimke.htm) OR Harriet Beecher Stowe (spartacus-educational.com/USASstowe.htm) if the suffragettes would have helped her. Note it on the paper.

Roll the dice. If you do not capture the slave, you may continue and check your answers.

THE ANSWERS: Bounty Hunter

Her first daughter probably died from a whipping.

The second child, her son, probably escaped along with hundreds of others along the Underground Railway to the North and to freedom.

Her third son was probably executed after participating in a rebellion.

Her youngest daughter is probably alive and working for pay in the household of one of the suffragettes.

You cannot capture any of the slave's children, and your investors have pulled out.

Roll the dice one last time. If you do not capture her, leave her alone and pursue someone else.